·Under Current" vs. County Warrants!

In order to counteract the underon the dollar for all county warruns presented to me from this J. W. Lorgington, 1911 by to 1-12 18-21 The Jury Nuisance.

It is often a very unpleasant duty for a journalist, who claims to deal faithfully with all questions affecting the welfare of society, to use unsparing criticism amon the action of citizens who are before the people as affice-holdtracts, per year and quarter at re- ers, committees, juries, etc., and have manifestly failed to perform the duty imposed upon them. It is the more unpleasant, if these persons happen to be the personal friends of the journalist, and he is expected by them to be very lenient, and even to shield them if possible. A journalist who is worthy of the confidence of a community, is pretty sure to convince both his friends and his foes that he aims to be impartial and make no distinction in dealing with public questions, between his friends and his foes. It is our aim to merit this confidence by fidelity to the interests of society, paying little heed to the individuals who necessarily fall under censure. It is enough for the true journalist to know that he has the full confidence of all worthy members of society. He is disgraced by having the friendship and confidence of evil-doers in the community. It is a shame to the profession when the journalist is on mies of good order.

the name of the law and justice. The human mule is the worst of the species, and but few juries are ever constituted upon which at least two or three of the most stupid and stubborn of this wretched class may not be found. In such an event a just verdict is a moral impossibility. It is only a weakness to look for better results under the jury system as now administered. 'In fact, it all lies in the hands of those who summon the jury. The Sheriffor Constable can try and decide any case before he summons his jury, if induced or inclined to do it. Hence, these officers cannot be too conscientions or careful in the choice they make of jurymen. The most flagrant outrages have been perpetrated by making an improper selection of persons for jurymen. A Sheriff or Constable cannot have too clear a head, or too quick a conscience.

Let officers and jurymen then understand that a fearful responsibility rests upon them, and that society will hold them to a strict accountability. They must pay absolutely no heed to popular feeling or public opinion. Their only duty is to administer the law so as to secure justice.- Santa Barbara Press.
